Example

A card is drawn from a well-shuffled deck of 52 cards. Find the probability that the card is a king.

SOLUTION:

There are 4 kings in a standard deck of 52 cards. So then the probability of drawing a king is \( \frac{4}{52} \) which reduces to \( \frac{1}{13} \).