This page is under construction, to be finished prior to the beginning of the fall semester.

It will give a list of pointers to make answer entry easier for students, reminders of operator precedence, etc..

It will also emphasize the importance of checking the webwork preview window to see how their typed answers have been interpreted by the program (sometimes students can have the correct answer, but just not know how enter it properly into a webwork answer blank).